Terry's Tidbits

2013

Fellow Members:

As we get closer to Turkey Day and the days become shorter, we have more time to contemplate on things we have done this year and maybe things we should have done.

I will start out with the 2015 Outgoing Exchange Requests. At the October meeting a sheet was passed around for everyone to fill out where they would like to travel in 2015. #1 was Ireland, #2 Italy, #3 Norway/Sweden. As I was completing FFI's Request Sheet looking for Italy, I could not find it so called FFI in Atlanta and learned there is no longer a club there.

I am urging everyone to be thinking about attending the 2014 Regional Conference in Salt Lake City next May 2, 3, 4 (Friday, Saturday, Sunday). The Salt Lake Club needs more members from Wyoming and Colorado to sign up to make this Conference successful. They were so impressed with our Regional Conference here in Cheyenne in 2012 that they are patterning the 2014 event after ours.

Please be prepared to pay the 2014 Club Dues by December 1, 2013, to be made out to Friendship Force of Cheyenne and handed/mailed to Membership Chairwoman Donna Logan (253 Abby Road, Cheyenne 82007). Individual membership $25; family/couple $40.

I've discussed with the Board members a request to pay Dennis Guilford's registration fee for the FFI International Conference in November at New Orleans. If I were to go, the club would pay my fee, but since I will not be going Dennis can represent me. The fee is $300.

Our December Dinner Party will again be at the Plains Hotel, this time on the main floor in the "Range A" Room at 6:00 PM. Cost is $24 per person. Please make your checks out to Friendship Force of Cheyenne and give them to our Treasurer, Loretta Humphrey, who will send one total payment to the Plains Hotel. I know at the last Board Meeting I quoted $25, but after further research I found we paid $24 last year and the Plains has verified that the charge will remain the same. I hope to see all of you there ~ a good time for the ladies not to have to cook! At that time this year's Spirit of Friendship Award will also be presented.

In Friendship, Terry

Minutes—September 2013 Meeting

Charles Darwin, a young naturalist, arrived in the Galapagos in 1835 to study the local wildlife. His theory of natural selection was the result of noting that almost all of the animals and plants were endemic to the islands. He observed, for instance, that the tortoises adapted their shell shape from their source of food. On some islands, the tortoises ate food at ground level and had domed-shaped shells while tortoises from another island had saddle-shaped shells from the need to continually reach up for their food.

The islands became Ecuador's first national park in 1959 with travel to these islands strictly controlled by Ecuador. Both the islands and the marine reserve are aggressively protected and are World Heritage sites.

Lyn E. Ferguson along with 15 others visited the Galapagos Islands some 600 miles off the coast of Ecuador. The group visited 9 of the Galapagos Islands which consist of 18 large islands and 3 small islands, plus 107 rocks and islets, all volcanically formed. These islands consist of 3,040 square miles of land spread out over 17,000 square miles of Pacific Ocean. Half of the nearly 30,000 inhabitants of the Galapagos Islands live in the town of Puerto Ayora on Santa Cruz Island.

Lynn's group lived aboard a catamaran as they ventured out hiking through noisy bird rookeries, past lizard iguanas, sunning sea lions, and the colorful plant life. They snorkeled in beautiful turquoise bays, through the rough narrow split in the rock formation Leon Dormido in open ocean, and in the extinct volcanic cone, Devil's Crown. They swam with playful sea lions, white tipped and Galapagos reef sharks, green sea turtles, black splotched and eagle rays, sea stars, and gorgeous schools of king angelfish.

Lynn left us with a last quote from Cousineau before she presented her colorful photos of life found in the Galapagos on the large screen with the assistance of the club's new projector, "we should all be grateful for the beauty of this world, but more, we should take the trouble to get off the bus of life and put the soles of our feet to the soul of the world and see those sacred sites with our own eyes".

New Business:

* Judy Eatmon passed out sign-up sheets to find out which members are able to HOST the Spokane Club during CFD.

* Jim Webber collected $1.00 penalties from many of the members not wearing their name badges this evening. Donna Logan will order new name tags for anyone needing one.

The new Thai restaurant has offered to provide a room. Marilyn Pettit will check her calendar to see if she is available to help Barbara with this project. Tony Adams made a motion that the club pursue with a committee for the membership drive and Eleanor Hanson followed with a second. Brenda Crawford volunteered to be on the committee and offered to reserve the Westgate Clubhouse. TV and newspaper should be used to notify the community. The 3rd Wednesday of each month a Travel Club meeting is held at the Outback Restaurant. Dinner is about $10 /person. A suggestion of increasing Cheyenne dues from $25 to $30 and from $40 to $50 was discussed and will be addressed during the general meeting.
- Our FF charter renews in December of each year which would require an increase in our dues Dec 2014 to prepare 2015's increase in fees to national. Local dues are collected starting Oct of each year and must be received by the Treasurer by December 1 of each year.
